Presents Care Under Fire (CUF) (4.5 – Hours)

DESCRIPTION: CUF is a “no nonsense” 4.5-hour course designed for non-medically trained individuals, such as teachers, event staff, hunters, hikers, security personnel and private citizens. This course is adapted from modern tactical medicine as taught to our military and special operations law enforcement personnel. Concepts covered in this course include how to address immediate life-threatening injuries such as bleeding control, airway management, tourniquets, pressure dressings, occlusive dressings; how to properly prepare your medical gear, Good Samaritan, and other legal aspects. We teach how to treat the most encountered preventable causes of death. This is NOT a typical basic first aid class. It will address specific injuries seen with penetrating and other trauma commonly encountered in catastrophic events. Attendees should be prepared to engage in practical, hands-on exercises, which will leave you far better prepared to respond and react to critical situations (wear clothes you don't mind getting dirty).

ADDITIONAL COURSE INFORMATION: There is no escaping the fact that the world is becoming a more dangerous place. In addition to providing training to law enforcement and other first responder personnel, DPREP provides training for people who want to be better prepared for the unexpected, whether that be an accident in the home or a critical incident in which you, your family or loved ones find yourselves. This course trains the ordinary people that find themselves in extraordinary circumstances.

This class may save your life or the life of a loved one!
